Recently.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15 The Dusish steamer Horse, which had so mu b notoricty in connection with the alleged Cuban fillbustering expeditions, was to-day sold by agents of the Danish owners to a New York firm. It is stated that the vessel will continue in the West Indies fruit trade. Capt W. W. Ker, counsel for the Hart like, the lare charterers of the steamer, said the vessel was soid because the owners became alterned at the reports of fillbustoring. For the same reason, Captain Ker further said, the owners refused to renew the contract with the Hart like when it expired a menth age, since which the boat has been lying idle at this port. The trial of Capt. Whorg and Mates Peterson and Johansen, of the floren, on the charge of orgaging in a fillbustering expedition in Cuba, which is slegged to have started from New York, is scheduled to begin in the United States district court here on Monday.

neglecting or refusing to carry out the law.

Mr. Bontner (Dom. La.) was the next to attack the Secretary. His manner expressed the deep midiguation which he acid he felt over the fact that the refusal of the Secretary of Agriculture to expend the seed appropriation made by the hast Congress was based upon a sort of false pretenen. "Antecedent to his decision that under the terms of the law he was not authorized to expend the appropriation," said hir. Boutner, "there emanated from the Agricultural Department reports derogatory and discrediting to Congress. The individual who has found his way into the Agricultural Department under this Administration (laugh ter) considered it not inconsistent with the displity of his position to allow reports to go out through the preas, scattered broade ast through the Union, that had discavered great fraud, and abused from the distribution by members of the seeds allotted to them under the existing law.

"I do not know whicher those state-abuses from the distribution by members of the seeds alldited to them under the exhibit land.

"I do not know whether those statements were true or fulse, but I do know, and I seert the publication of any such scanditions charge against a body of gentlemen, without the designation of the names of the individuals who had been found so small and so corrupt and so unit for the positions that they occupied, was not only an insult to the Congress of the United States, but a cowardly attack, inconsistent with the dignity of any man who occupied a cabines position. For one, as a member of the Fifty-third Congress, I resent and denounce as an infamous slander the imputation that that body, as a body, or the preceding Congress, of which I was a member, were addicted to that use of the seeds which were allotted to them for distribution among their constituents."

Mr. Livingston (Dem., Ga.) followed in the same line, but flist criticised the commessioner on agriculture, whom, he said, the House and the country would hold desponsible for the conduct of the department of agriculture.

At the conclusion of Mr. Livingston's remarks, which closed general debate on the bill, the committee rose, and at 5 clock, on imotion of Mr. Wadaworth (Rep., N. Y.), adjourned until Monday.

LARGE SIZED DOUBTS

In Scientific Circles About Nansen's Alleged Great Dis covery.

WASHINGTON, Feb 15 In accentific circles in Washington interest in the report of Dr. Nunsen's alleged achievement would be much greater if the news came in a more authentic shape and with more definite particulars. The two points from waich confirmatory de spatches are alleged to have been re-more definite particulars. The two points from which confirmatory de spatches are alleged to have been reteived, namely, Irkutah, in eastern Siberra, and Archangel, in European Rusan, being more that 3500 miles apart, in the aphilon of Lieut Scheutz of the navy, who is thoroughly familiar with Siberiam coast, east grave doubts upon the author-licity of the reports.

I count Stignager, a former associate of Dr. Namaen, thinks there is nothing intripsically improbable in the story and boars a high tribute to Dr. Nameen's indomitable courage and fertility, of resource "if," said he, "Dr Ramaen found a land north of the New Siberian Islands it would be a comparatively casy matter for him to proceed sorthward, for the distance is not so great the extra difficulties experieded in traveling over the frozen seal make the task one of greater hardship, and in measurably increase the distance."

Bilg Gen. Greety, the Arctic explorer, gives little credence to the reported con firmation of the success of Dr Nameen's attempt to reach the North Pole. He had in mile particular screen to the reported con firmation of the success of Dr Nameen's attempt to reach the North Pole. He had in many and the report from Archangel on the fact that Namean's theory of reaching the pole was at variance with his alleged arriver off the expedition.

did not confemplate in his arrangement Nansen was approaching the Dena Della should roach such a remote polot as Archangel. The absence of details in both the Archangel and Irku sk Jes-Arthunger. The absence of details in both the Archanger and Irku ak jeeppatches was also a reason for disholter on the part of Gen Grephy.

Nothing was sand as to how Nabsen had been communicated with, nor any hing about his pourney. It was also unlikely that news coming from such an important place as Archanger, having a ceellent communication with the ourside world, could not be given with more directors as as to particulars. Nassen's theory that a current swept across the pole was disproved, said Gen Greeley, if Nassen had arrived anywhere of the Sherian coast. If he had reached there the indications seemed to be that a current had swept him from the neighborhood of Bennett Island to the pole and they returned him so his starting point. This is hardly possible, said the greeni, and there was no scientific evidence in confirmation.

The House then went late committee of the whole upon the Agricultural appropriation bill

Mr Baker (Rep. N. II) whose controversy lost runmer with Secretary Morton over the refusal of the latter to distribute seed in accordance with the appropriation law and the intention and desire of Congress was exploited at the time, additessed the produbitee.

He quoted largely from former speeched in Congress and from reports from departmental officers to show that the scenerary could have carried out the law as passed by Congress to the advantage of the country generally and farmers ladividually in the distribution of seed as it had been done for more than 30 years.

Mr. Baker osserted that there was absolutely nothing in the opinion of the attorney general upon which the secretary of agriculture said he based his action, to warrant that official in refusing to execute the law of Congress in relation to the distribution of seeds.

Mr. Mosos (Dem., Ga.) followed Mr. Baker in denonciation of the course of the Secretary of Agriculture. He said it did not make much difference what kind of an appropriation was made, if the will of the House was not to be the inw of the land. The juanger to American institutions, he said, was not that the representatives of the people had expressed the will of their constituents, nutified that expression by neglecting or refusing to carry out their will, but some other power, lafter the representatives of the people had expressed the will of their constituents, nutified that expression by neglecting or refusing to carry out the law.

Free Silver Overwhelmed. It seems that the defeat of the free colute substitute for the bond hill, in the use last week, was sufficiently ematic to impress the free silver Senator th the idea that they cannot dictate he action of Congress. The House, the tubers; of which are elected by the ople direct, is the barometer of popur sentiment, and in the vote above reared is to be found conclusive evidence hat the silver coaze is on the wage The majority recorded against the Sene silver substitute was 125. Another Bond Issue Probable. Even while the Adminis ration is preolding over the increase of the gold raerve as a result of the recent bond sale, he cathusism growing out of the sucess of the appeal to the people is ampened by the probability of another saue during Cleveland's term owing to he failure of the tariff law to supply leeded revenue. For the fiscal year adding in June, 1894, the delicit amounted to $69,803,260. In 1895 it was $12,895,-223 and for the first seven and a half months of the present fiscal year it has reached over $23,000,000. In the meanme the public debt has been increased $262,315,000, including the last bond issue, on which the people will have to the interest to the amount of $104,778,-000. The Republican House has suppiled a remedy for this condition, but he Democrats in the Senate aided by a andful of Republican free silver Sonstors and Populists have up to this time refused to pass the emergency bill. Four ears of Grover, backed by a Democratic Congress, has proved a costly experient for the pedplo of this country.

A Hopeless Cause.

Major Handy writes the New York Mail and Express: Democratic politics are stagmant as never before at this stage in a Presidential campaign. Cleveland sill lets "I dere not wait upon I would." Morrison is anxious to take the nomingtion on any platform or any terms. Pattison is backed by his own State with its two bundred thousand Republican majority. Whitney still turns a deaf car to those who would like to have a generous campaign fund, without regard to the prosperts of adicess. In Indiana, ske all chances. Beyond these there are no serious Democratic Presidential candidacies. The Democratic cause is se hopeless that the surewdest Demo-cratic leaders hope to do nothing more than go through the motions. Never before within the recollection of the oldest. political observer has a party been so cowed as to have to be fairly whipped to stand up and fight for its existence.

Bherman on Vote in the House. In a letter on the vote of the House on ton free silver substitute for the bond Senator Sherman writes:

ill Smator Sherman writen:

"The vote in the House on the free fiver substitute says be considered a stal resident station free colonge. The sat Congress bad a sweet integer silver shapes. The best Congress, I firstly offers, will be for seased manage in both mean and denote, and the fare-silver mean and denote, and the fare-silver mean and denote, and the pre-silver will be it an end at a political

"I do not see why the Democrate should oppose the Tariff bill. It is not trained on protection lines, and would necesse the revenues sufficiently to re-framed on protection lines, and would increase the revenues anticiently to relieve the Treasury and the Administration from embarrasament.

"I am enticely confident that President Cleveland would allow the Tariff bill to become a law if it passed Congress, even though he did not sign it. As the situation now is, President Cleveland would be justified in suspending all public work which is not absolutely necessary. By so doing he would stop the deficit and place the Treasury ballance on the other side."

The Result of Protection The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes: The House Committee on Naval Affiss, of which Mr. Boutelle is chairman, held an intereating session Friday at which Secretary Horbort, under invitation from the chairman, gave his views on pending naval lugislation. It is enstomary every year to hear the decretary of the Navy, though his views do not always influonce the action of Congress. The Scoretary recommended in his unual report the construction of two battleships, and at least twelve torpedo boats. Friday he said that more battleships should be authorized than the number recommended in his annual report, and, in fuct he thought that Congress could not make a mistake in recommending too many.

An interesting feature of the Secretatary's statement? was the evidence he presented confirming the advantage of building up home industries. Chairman during his service in Congress, has dwelt on the fact that by encouraging the construction of the ships in this country their cost would be greatly reduced. When the work of building the new navy began armor plate, shafts and many parts of the vessels had to be imported from Europe. Under a system of abso lute prohibition of foreign competition everything now needed for a first-class battle-ship can be obtained in the United Stales at rates lower than in any coun try in the world excepting Great Britain, and, according to figures presented by Secretary Hothert to-duy, when allow ance is made for the difference in wages ships can be constructed much chenper in this country than in Great Britain The Secretary declared that in this country "we are able to build better ships at less than any country in the world say Great Britain, and the latter country b but slightly shead in the maiter of econ omy of construction," but us Chairman Boutelle remarked, if it were not for the higher wages paid in this country, the cost of construction would be much less here than io Great Britain.

Secretury Herbert stated that the hattleships Keatsarge and Kentucky, of 17.500 displacement, would cost $195.65 per ton displacement, while the Magniticent, a British vessel of 14,900 tons displacement, cost $164.28 per ton, showing that the cost per ton was only $31.47 more in this country than in Great Britain, notwithstanding the fact that wages are 100 per cent. higher. In Russia, according to the Secretary, simihar vessels cost $212.20 per ton; in Germuny, $301.25; in Italy, $312.09, and in France, $418.20.

This great reduction in cost has been brought about by the reduction in the price of steel and other materials in the last ten years, every article of which had been amply protected by the tariff until within a few months, and even the Wilson bill has not made any great reduction in the rates on those articles. A greater tribute to the policy of protection could hardly be made. And yet, Secretary Herbert is one of those Democrats who has always fought for free trade, and who, it he could have had his way, would still have this country buying materrals for ships of Great Britain.

The result is that it is stated in also certain that the Cramps have offered to construct buttleships in less than three years' time if they have not already

No attempt has yet been made in the umitiee to agree as to what should be done in the way of constructing battleships, but it is very probable that the commission will authorize two and proba bly three battleships. Chairman Boutelle has always been one of the strongest advocates of building up the navy and putting the country in a condition of detense, so that every time there is the least talk of war the merchants and bankers in the sea coast cities will not get panie-stricken for fear of bombard meat or destruction of their property.

Mr. Boutelle is as much in favor of that policy now as he has been heretofore, and it is pretty certain that his committee will report in favor, of new ulilos. Chairman Cannon, of the Approprintions Committee, who threatened some time ago to antagoniza any bill to construct more buttleships until there was an increase of revenue, finds the pressure so heavy, both for buttleships and coast defenses, that he admits now that he is wavering and may not oppose such appropriations. His own commit too is likely to be forced into reporting fair-sized bill for coast defenses.

Boer Government Has Reason for Being Incensed.

Mr. Ricard Says He Was Misled Into Making Certain Statements.

London, Feb. 15.—(Special cable let er.) The Angle-Beer troubles arising from Dr. Jameson's raid into the Trans-rant or perhaps from a more remote cause do not appear likely to be settled by a more exchange of diplomatic cor-respondence or a visit of President Kruger to London.

On the surface all appears to be plain adding but it can be stated with cortainty that there is something in the wind of which the general public has as yet no knowledge. Pretoria advices of Thursday showed that the Boer government was inceased and with reason because of Mr. Chamberlain's despatch to Si or lat. Cuamherian's despatch to Sir Hercules Robinson, her majesty's high commissioner, in South Africa, in, which the secretary for the colonies set forth the alleged gricyances of the foreign reslidents of the Transvaal and suggested some reforms which included the grant-ing of autonomy to the residents of the was an unwarrantable interference with the internal affairs of the South African republic and he did not hesitate to plainly say so. On the face of things it appeared that the moderation of President Kruger towards Dr. Jameson and his fellow fillibusters and the outensible intention of the British government to protect the Boers in their rights would, after some diplomatic correspondence, result in the restoration of the condition of affairs that prevailed before the raid. Beneath the surface, however, it appears that the British government is not acting entirely in good faith.

The representative of the United Press learns from an official source that the war office, acting under orders from the government, has made every preparation to send an army corps of 2D,000 men to South Africa. Despite the silence of the English papers and in the face of the possible denials, the absolute accuracy of this statement can be relied upon. The war office was consulted by the government the week after Emperor William sent his despatch to President Kruger as to how long it would take to land a fully equipied army in Natal. Plans were prepared between the war office and the admiralty with the result that it was reported that an expedition could be ready with in three months.

The details of the scheme are known only to the heads of the war office and the members of the inner cabinet, but the information received by the representative of the United Press points to a large contingent being drawn from India cavalry, artillery and infantry including Sikhs and other native troops. The promise of a peaceful settlement of the Transvaal difficulty does not appear to have sufficed to induce the British government to abandon its project. Final orders for the despatch of the troops have not yet been given, but if the pressent designs are carried out a full army corps will be in Natal some time in May.

What real use is to be made of this force can only be surmised. The conly say so. On the face of things it ancared that the moderation of Presiden int designs are carried out a full army corps will be in Natal some time in May.

What real use is to be made of this force can only be surmised. The conservative organ, the Globe, clone of all newspapers seems to have received some hint of the government's injentions. It arms that soft words with the Boers is a sleer waste of time. England, it declares, will only get what she wants by a display of force, not an actual collision, but a demonstration. Therefore the gavernment must increase its forces in South Africa to such an extent as to convince the government at Petoria that actither the Boers nor Germans will be longer allowed to prevent pubnicison to England's just demands.

The Globe does not attenut to estimate what force will be required the overnive the Boers in South Africa at present to do what at any moment It may be imperatively necessary to do. The English after their thorough defent at Majuha Hill in 1881 had 2,000 troops opposed to the Boers who were not at all overnived if to the projected expedition there should be added the existing forces in South Africa they would be of all arms combined from 25,000 to 130,000 men who could be used in a demonstration against the Transaction against the Transaction against the Transaction and the prevention against the Transaction and the prevention against the Transaction.

oned trom 20,000 to 30,000 men who could be used in a demponstration against the Transvaal. The republic might, and probably would, find an ally in the Orange free state, would receive assistance from Dutch sympathizers in Cape Colony and would probably seepre the active intervention of Europe. If would be a big job for England to make even a limited demonstration.

job for England to make even a limited demonstration.

Although the first lord of the treasury, Mr. Alfred Balfour, referred hopefully in the House of Commons last night to President Kruger's coming to England to discuss the question at issue nobody within or without the official virele believes that he is coming. On Tuesday night Mr. Chamberlain announced his readiness to abandon his proposal that home rule should be granted to the residents of the Rand and/for ask President Kruger to suggest an alternative. The sturdy Boer president stated the alternative explicitly in his last despatch in which he declared that Transvand would allow no interfernce in its internal affairs. With this despatch before him Mr. Balfour affirmed the decision of the British government to interfere somehow to secure to the foreigners in the Transvail equal rights with the Boers. The question now is what form will this interference take?

A bringe across a highway was six-teen feet in length and the same in width, without railing, and about five feet above the bed of the stream. Near the northeast corner there was a hole about two or three feet long and a foot or more in width, where the plank had become broken, leaving sufficient space in the south tide for teams to pass. As a warning to travellers, a plank had been thrust into the hole, so that it stood perpendicularly from the bed of the strana, extending four or five feet above the bridge.

The plaintiff's statement of the accident was this: "As I drove up on the bridge the plank was stuck up into the bole; and my horse stepped on the first plank that this rested against, and whun stepped on that it tipped over and struck my horse a little and fetched up on the end of the plank. It touched my horse, and my horse sheered out round and ran the forward wheel off between these planks which were of different lengths, and k-pt right on going."

Held, that the proximate and responsible cause of the injury was the hope in the bridge with the plank standing lendwise in it, and as no manicipal, officer of the defendant town, highway surveyor or road complessioner, had twenty-four langer.
